Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Doughboy s Poems of the World War While Over There: A Book Showing the Doughboy s Thoughts in Poems From Actual Experience in the Recent Conflict in Europe More than fifteen months as a doughboy, twelve of which has been spent over there, has led me to believe that there are many things in the army and its environment of which we might tell to the folks back home for interest, entertainment and knowledge. In bringing out these features of the doughboys life I have tried to limit my poems on army subjects or within the close environments of this great war. The poems show the feeling of the doughboy and the home folks as they stand separated by that great gulf throughout this big game. The poems treat subjects in their reality as the doughboy witnessed them through out the game. They are a history within themselves. The author wishes to extend greetings to the ex-doughboys and the home folks who stood so faithful and loyal back of the government in the time of need. The Battlefield There s a field left in memory to the soldier lad, And its fears yet seen by man; Where once was all nature in its beauty it had, Made by Gods wonderful hand. But now as we glance she is in desolation, From the momentous war we have fought, And our heart is grieved as the youth of a nation, Must die on that fateful spot. There once grew the wheat and the golden corn, And the fruit trees in blossom so sweet, But all too soon came that fateful morn, Just as sadness creeps nigh...
